

Basant Panchami Celebration by Junior Wing

'Spring, or Basant, is nature's way of showing happiness'

Basant Panchami is a festival that highlights the onset of spring season. The students of Junior Wing were up in celebrations, seeking divine blessing, on the occasion of the auspicious Basant Panchami. 'Yellow' was the flavour of day, marking the beginning of life and the arrival of happiness as Basant Panchami is the season of rebirth and renewal. Students were enlightened with the story of Basant Panchami and how Goddess Saraswati bestowed on earth her blessing of voice, music, speech and knowledge. Learning about the significance and the rituals involved with this festival helped all to stay connected with our culture.

Students of Class III, IV and V made badges symbolic to the festival, as a part of Social Studies Activity. They indulged into the tasty platter of yellow food too.

The students of the Junior Wing were wallowed in spirit of festivity throughout the day which they will cherish a long way in their hearts.
