

REPORT ON ENGLISH DAY

There's no substitute for the love of language, for the beauty of an English sentence.

On English Day, a day dedicated solely to the most widely spoken language around the world, the children of Class III, IV and V celebrated the verve and versatility of the language.

An English Handwriting Competition was organized for grades III, IV and V on 3rd October 2017 for the students. The aim of this competition was to encourage students to improve their calligraphy skills in which the children showcased their handwriting skills.

On 10th October, 2017, the students of grade III participated enthusiastically in the Story Telling Competition. The theme was 'Aesop's Fables'. They narrated their favorite stories with the aid of handmade puppets bringing their stories to life. Their excitement was clearly visible in their presentation. Although, it turned out to be a daunting task for the teachers to adjudge the winners, an overwhelming majority of students put in their best and won the competition.

Students of grade IV participated with a lot of zeal in the activity "I am a Literatus", conducted on 7th October, 2017. Dressed in colorful costumes, they enlightened the class about the life and works of eminent English authors who have embellished the history of English Literature. From Shakespeare to Sudha Murthy; Jane Austen to Roald Dahl, the school corridor was teeming with these young authors. Through this activity, the children were made aware of the profound and lasting impact of the great English writers.

Grade V ushered in English Day by participating in 'Spotlight' on 5th October. In this activity, the students researched and shed light on the various aspects like history, rules, equipment used, famous sportspersons of the National sports of India, UK, South Africa and Australia. In the true spirit of sports, the competition was eagerly contested by all the fifth graders with the students showcasing their research, creativity and oratory skills. They took the initiative to make interesting props and were extremely creative in their role plays. They even donned the team jersey representing their corresponding sports.

The objective of these activities was to encourage the children to love the English Language which has been rightly called the 'Window to the outside world.'

Overall, the English Day was a grand success.
