

Educational Trip to Jaipur and Abhaneri

An educational trip to Jaipur and Abhaneri was organised for the students of Middle School, from 14th October'18 to 16th October'18. It aimed at apprising students with the culture and history of Rajasthan.

The trip commenced with the visit to the magnificent Hawa Mahal which is a perfect blend of Indo-Islamic architecture. Jantar Mantar which features the largest stone sundial and a collection of 19 architectural astronomical instruments, was absolutely captivating. Visit to the Salim's paper and Sakshi Block Printing factories was truly enriching. Students got first hand information on the processes involved in handmade paper making and block printing. They had a fun filled evening at "Chokhi Dhani", a great promoter and preserver of the traditional Rajasthani heritage of culture and hospitality.

The trip concluded with the visit to Abhaneri village known for one of the largest and deepest stepwells in the world. Students were spellbound by its incredible architecture. This trip was a great experience for the students as they were able to go beyond what they have been learning in text books and it helped them gain a new perspective towards the history of medieval architecture in Rajasthan.
