

WHO SAID AN ART CAMP WOULD BE BORING!

As the birds were waking up on this Thursday morning, ___ enthusiasts from the art community of Delhi Public School, Sector 45, Gurgaon set out on a journey of six straight hours to explore the culture and art of the Havelis of Mandava in Rajasthan.

Six hours later; which were filled with fun on the road, food and snooze, the enthusiasts started their art sojourn with a traditional camel cart ride across the village. To add to the excitement of the camel ride, was the entertainment from local traditional musician and dancers. And some of the enthusiasts got into the groove too!

And the fun was then followed by the awe inspiring workshop by the local artist. Having been only used to painting on paper, we were exposed to different medium used in painting murals on the walls followed by visits to a few Havelis to see the local murals and heritage art. And this time no one was spared in the evening – it was a DJ bash with everyone doing their moves on the dance floor. And was that funny!! A heritage walk the next morning brought out a very different perspective of the murals and the art. And the sojourn ended too soon – six more hours of filled ride back to Delhi. However, the difference was that the group not only had more appreciation for the local heritage art but also a stronger bond with one another.
