Ms. Aditi Parekh who represented the STTI organization conducted the workshop. The topic of discussion was 'Media Literacy'. The committee deliberated and discussed the five core principles of Journalism, newsworthy or not and importance of evaluating media.

The workshop focused on how as responsible consumers we must ensure that we don't assess situations reported on their face value and definitely are vigilant and aware not to be spoon fed and manipulated by news agencies. The members provided meaningful and astute observations regarding different aspects of media literacy in form of flow and web charts and poster. The findings were displayed on the board for others to gain information and knowledge about the same.
