

"Every new language we learn opens new possibilities"

Planspiel, a simulation style game was organised by Goethe Institut on an international platform. Students participated in a round table conference where they deliberated measures for controlling climate change and creating healthier living conditions in a fictional city named "Fonta". A three minute video was made by each team in the German language, briefly explaining their chosen measures as citizens of the city.

The top five films were announced in the online closing ceremony. The film made by the students of DPS, sector 45, Gurgaon was amongst the top five films internationally and the best from India. The senior school children were praised for the creativity and uniqueness of their video. The interactive and enjoyable event had the participants put on their thinking caps to find solutions for a pollution free city and spread the joy of learning a foreign language.
