

Art Educational trip to Ajanta and Ellora Caves

Delhi Public School, Sector 45, Gurgaon organised an educational trip for 30 art enthusiast students of the senior school to UNESCO world heritage sites, the beautiful Ajanta and Ellora caves. The students were given an introduction to the history of Aurangabad. They visited the mesmerising caves of Ajanta where each painting had a story and a message attached to it. Many of these paintings are included in the school's curriculum which further enhanced the experience. The life of Buddha was beautifully represented through the Jataka tales, and the intricate designs on the walls were carved on a single rock by hand.

The students also saw the Ellora caves where every rock carving described the life of the Buddhist and Jain monks. The monolithic rock carvings in Kailasa temple left everyone gasping in awe. The educational trip was a memorable and great learning experience.
