A team of five students of classes VII and VIII, guided by a teacher, participated in the 'Unwrap Sustainability' workshop, a flagship initiative by Sarva Sahodaya focused on tackling the pressing issue of packaging waste. The workshop proved to be highly interactive, with students contributing innovative ideas to reduce packaging waste during an engaging brainstorming session. Participants also exchanged best practices on eco-friendly initiatives that have been successfully implemented in their schools.

The workshop was a truly enriching experience, fulfilling its promise by shedding light on how something as simple as food packaging can have a substantial negative impact on the environment. By using relatable, everyday examples, the workshop made the concepts more accessible and encouraged the participants to reconsider their own choices.

The initiative is supported by organizations such as Svatanya and Chintan, which are dedicated to improving the planet. We look forward to put into practice the various environmentally beneficial steps within our school.
