

Report on Good Readers' Visit to NBT

"Books are the plane, and the train, and the road. They are the destination, and the journey. They are home." - Anna Quindlen

Books play a pivotal role in holistically moulding the personality of young readers. They allow them to explore imaginative realms and scenarios. Reading fosters creativity and helps children develop the ability to visualize and create their own stories. To nurture their love for reading, the good readers of Class V went to the National Book Trust of India on 11th March 2024.

It was a wonderful and enriching experience for both the students and the teachers. The young readers curiously explored the wide range of books available at the National Book Trust and selected the ones which piqued their interest. They also attended an interesting story telling session conducted by a renowned story teller, Ms. Swati Sinha. She captured her audience with an intriguing story, which kept students on the edge of their seats during the session. The students and Ms.Swati Sinha had an interesting interaction exchanging several tongue twisters and riddles during the story session. She also involved students in an activity 'Out of the Box', whereby students were asked to solve a puzzling riddle on a sheet of paper. She also urged the students to become avid readers as it will help them in fostering a creative mindset.

The visit to the National Book Trust of India was truly an inspiring and rewarding experience for all the good readers. Such visits boost the confidence of the students and instill in them the love for reading books.
